

Larry C. Dean, FCSI

“In recognition of your distinguished, outstanding and dedicated service in the formation of new chapters, as the Institute Region Director of Region 4 and for your many inspiring and broad contributions for the advancement of the Institute you are advanced to Fellowship in the Institute on this 10th day of June, 1970.”
Chicago, Illinois

LARRY CRAIG DEAN was born in Macon, Georgia in 1925. He attended Georgia Institute of Technology, graduating with a Bachelor of Science and a Bachelor of Architecture in 1950.

Over the years Dean, a registered architect, has worked for a variety of architectural firms. For many years he was Vice-President and Head of Specifications for Heery and Heery Architects, in Atlanta. He has also been a member of the architectural firm of Toombs, Amisano & Wells and worked as an architect for Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Tudor. Most recently, Dean worked as an architect and Director of Design Services for the Construction Division, Georgia State Financing and Investment Commission.

In 1967 Dean was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Institute Board of Directors as Director of Region 4. Two years later he was elected to a three year term on the Institute Board of Directors in his own right. During his term as Director, Dean participated in the chartering of three new chapters. For his efforts on behalf of the Region, the Region presented him with the Southeast Region Certificate of Appreciation in 1979. In 1992, he was presented the Southeast Region Institute Directors' Certificate of Appreciation.

In 1973 he began the first of two consecutive terms as Institute Vice President. In 1975 he was elected to the first of two consecutive terms as Institute President, the last member to do so. During his term as President, he authored a bylaws amendment establishing the office of President elect; this amendment was approved by the membership. Dean was also instrumental in establishing the Certified Construction Specifier program which was authorized during his term as President and was responsible for establishing the Former President's Medal.

During his term as President, the Institute Board authorized participation in the National Construction Industry Arbitration Committee of the American Arbitration Association.

For ten years Dean served as Master of Ceremonies at the President's Banquet at the Institute Convention.

In addition to his work with CSI, Dean has also been active in the North Georgia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. In 1969 he was presented with a certificate of recognition for his services to the American Institute of Architects.
