A Newsletter written by Fellows of CSI for Fellows of CSI

Publisher: Gilman Hu, FCSI

Editorial:

By: Richard Eustis, PE, FCSI, CCCA, CSC – Editor

This Newsletter is intended to be an independent vehicle, written by Fellows to be read by other Fellows, to keep the Fellowship informed of CSI activities. It is a way for Fellows serving in Leadership positions to communicate matters that should be of interest as well as for other Fellows to express their opinions or share information.

When reduced to the very basics, CSI is all about “Communications”. We develop methods of organizing information as a way to improve communications between the various parties on a construction project. Our success in that area was sufficient that we turned to the graphics side and developed a system to improve the communications through graphic documents. We believe in “green” so we are looking at ways to do a better job in communicating “green” information.

This Newsletter was started as a way to improve communications between and among CSI Fellows. As Fellows we are all interested in knowing more about CSI Programs and activities as well as about other Fellows. This is where we need some help. Nearly every article that has appeared in this Newsletter has been the result of a specific request. What is it that you would like to know more about? We have had good comments about the article about activities of individual Fellows but we need some “tips” on who to contact or some authors with a story to tell. Can you help?

Our editorial policy is quite simple, we do not intend to reproduce articles that are sent to multiple Chapters for use in Chapter Newsletters nor do we intend to promote or support specific controversial issues. Our intent is to be an information source.

Invitation to Fellows Annual Meeting

From Kathy Proctor, FCSI – Immediate Past-Chancellor, COF

You are cordially invited to the CSI Fellows Events at CONSTRUCT2008 & the CSI Annual Convention. The events will be hosted in the Summit and Copa Rooms of the Renaissance Las Vegas Hotel adjacent to the Las Vegas Convention Center. (2 minute walk from convention center)

The reception will begin at 6:30pm and the Fellows Assembly at 7:00pm. Following the Assembly, CSI and CSC Fellows are invited to stay for the College of Fellows Annual Business Meeting starting at 8:00pm.

Please RSVP by May 21 to College of Fellows Secretary, Philip W. Kabza, RA, FCSI, CCS, CCCA, AIA, SCIP at phil@SpecGuy.com or 704-367-1991.

EDITORS NOTE: Please attend this meeting even if you forget to RSVP. The College of Fellows would like some idea of the number attending for “Planning Purposes” but will welcome you even if the RSVP slipped your mind.

An update on GreenFormat

By Paul R Bertram, Jr. FCSI, CDT, LEED AP

The development of GreenFormat (www.greenformat.com) continues in two segments. First, there is reporting and capturing of sustainable product attributes by manufacturers to populate the GreenFormat database. This is being achieved through a working refinement of the draft questionnaire that was created by the Sustainable Facilities Task Team. An initial group of 25 manufacturers were identified representing 6 specific MasterFormat classifications to participate in the initial test phase. The manufacturers are working with CSI and GreenFormat partner BuildingGreen to evaluate the questions to accurately reflect the information needs and capabilities for each product type. In addition to these 25 targeted products many other manufacturers are expressing interest in GreenFormat participation. After utilizing the alpha participants' input to refine the database functionality, the program will be made available for all manufacturers to participate in the Beta phase of testing and refinement. CSI is working to make manufacturers aware of GreenFormat. While the website is being refined based on the Alpha test results, printouts of the questionnaire are available to for review by interested organizations.

To guide the continuing development effort a new GreenFormat Maintenance Task Team was formed. The new task team is made up of building product manufacturer representatives from InterfaceFlor, Trane, a building product trade association, and design professionals from New York City, Los Angeles and the environmental advocacy organization, Rocky Mountain Institute.

The second part of the development is to establish the functionality of the database and web interface. The technology is being designed so that a manufacturer can self- complete data fields with appropriate information about their product concluding with a data verification requirement. Members of the building team will be able to search and access to this information through multiple pathways including CSI MasterFormat numbers and product names. In the future, product attributes (such as recycled content) and other properties will be supported by search capability. The data reported by manufacturers addresses product compliance with various standards, rating system credits, certification and labeling programs. The referenced standard and programs will be linked to websites where additional information can be accessed for the purpose of assisting the user to understand how to consider the reported information in conjunction with established criteria for sustainable design.

One important aspect of GreenFormat is that it is designed to be a self-reporting system for product information, ISO 14021 guidelines are referred as the basis of responsible data reporting. ISO – 14021, Environmental labels and declarations — Self-declared environmental claims (Type II environmental labeling) scope includes specifics of requirements for self-declared environmental claims, including statements, symbols and graphics, regarding products. It further describes selected terms commonly used in environmental claims and

I would like to acknowledge the hard working assistance of my committee Edith Washington, David Metzger and Joe Dworkin. One of our final committee charges is to form the committee for next year. If anyone is interested or knows someone that would be a good candidate, please forward their names to me. The committee tries to rotate members from around the country and the next regions to select committee members from are North Central, West, Southeast, South Central, and Northeast.

Letter from the Jury of Fellows

By: F. Jack Klemeyer, FCSI – Chair, Jury of Fellows

The submittals received this year by the Jury demonstrated some very fine talent and hard work, and we look forward to the elevation of those candidates who were successful. The Jury worked hard, as is always the case, and it is a humbling and difficult task. I know many of the Fellows acted both formally and informally as mentors during the preparation of the nomination packages, and I would like to thank each of you for your efforts -- I have absolutely no doubt that your advice made a difference.

Several Fellows requested that the Jury prepare a guideline for the mentors' use in the coming years, and we have taken that request very seriously. The first draft is currently under review, and we hope to have the completed document available by the time we meet in Las Vegas in June.

Finally, I would like to express my sincere thanks for the opportunity to have served this year as chair of the Jury, to my fellow Jury members for their excellent efforts throughout the year, and of course to Stacy Vail and others on staff who have also worked extremely hard to make everything happen so seamlessly. We all look forward to the ceremony in June, and to welcoming this year's inductees.

Governance Implementation Progress Report

By: Sheryl Dodd-Hansen, FCSI, CCS, CCCA, SCIP - Vice President, Professional, and Chair of GRITT

On March 12th, CSI President Gene Valentine, FCSI, CCS, AIA, appointed the Governance Reform Implementation Task Team (affectionately referred to as “GRITT”) to evaluate the ramifications of the approved 2008 Bylaws Amendments and make recommendations to the Board.

The team has been comprised of Michelle Beard, Lane Beougher, Loren Berry, Richard Cooper, Dick Eustis, Daniel Hargreaves, John McCaffrey, and Casey Robb, with Mike Davis as Officer Liaison, Sheryl Dodd-Hansen as Chair, and Stacy Vail as Staff Liaison. The Task Team has held weekly conference calls, and met for two days in Dallas, TX, April 18-19, 2008.

Progress has been steady and the team will achieve its charges, which include development of an implementation plan for the approved Bylaws Amendments; update of text in related documents including CSI’s Administrative References, Board Operating Guide, and Nominating Committee Operating Guide; and development and execution of a member communications plan.

The Team is functioning according to the following Guiding Principles:

1. Provide for an orderly and prudent transition.
2. Preserve the intent of the Governance Task Team’s proposal as modified by the Board.
3. Conform to old and new Bylaws as required to get the work done.
4. Make well-crafted recommendations so they can be understood and approved by the Board.
5. Provide that elected officers complete their terms as elected.
6. Facilitate the changes to the Regions’ leadership structures.
7. Contribute positively to future high-quality Boards.
8. Explain our reasoning to the Board and the membership.

Here is a summary of the proposal developed to date. Recommendations will be presented to the Board as required for adoption in June.

Bylaws Revision, Article XIII, Meetings of the Institute, (now Article XII), which changes “delegates” to “voting members”. This amendment requires changes to the “Regulations for Annual Meetings”, which must, by Institute Policy, be approved by the Board at the summer meeting the year before the meeting at which they are used. The Regulations for the June 6, 2008 annual meeting were approved in June 2007. Therefore delegates will be accredited for the upcoming June meeting in accordance with the previous rules. The Task Team has revised the regulations for the June 2009 meeting and is presenting them for approval at the June 3, 2008 Board meeting. Procedures will be developed to accredit “voting members” well in advance of the June 2009 meeting.

Bylaws Revision, Article VI, Nomination and Election of Officers and Directors; Section 4 Nomination of Officers, (now Article V, Section 3), which changes the petition process for nomination. The Task Team is preparing suggestions for changes to the Institute Nominating Committee Operating Guide to accommodate the revised requirements for petitions.

Bylaws Revision, Article VI, Nomination and Election of Officers and Directors; Section 1 Nominating Committee, (now Article V, Section 1), which provides for two members of the Board to serve on the Nominating Committee. This amendment requires a change in Institute Policy to establish procedures and guidelines for selecting these Board members. The Task Team is recommending that eligibility for this role require that the member have served at least one full year on the Board before service on the Nominating Committee; that the two Board members selected in any given year be from different regions; and that Board members be ineligible to be nominated for election while serving on the Nominating Committee.

The team took into account that, while most qualified Board members would be in the second year of their term, an officer or director at large who served on the board before this term of office would immediately qualify as having served one full year before service on the Nominating Committee. While it is preferable that the Board members on the Nominating Committee not be from the same regions as the other members of the Nominating Committee, the Task Team determined that putting such a requirement into policy would really limit the number of Board members who could serve on the Nominating Committee, especially when they have to also be willing to exclude themselves from consideration for nomination. The team will be recommending a statement in the Board Operating Guide that it is preferable (but not required) that these members be from regions other than those represented on the Nominating Committee.

While the notice for the Bylaws Amendments states that the Board would create policy that stipulates that the Board members serving on the Nominating Committee would not be eligible for nomination to higher officer while serving on the committee, the Task Team felt that the verbiage should preclude nomination to any office while serving.

Bylaws Revision, Revised Board Structure. This is the core of the transition plan. After evaluating more than a dozen potential schemes and consulting with the Board, the Task Team settled on a scheme that appears to be the most orderly and prudent approach, conforms to the team’s Guiding Principles, and gets the Board to its approved new size in the most expeditious way.

Under this plan, the Board will start to be reduced in size in FY2010, dropping from 29 to 21 members, and reaching 18 members in FY2012. No new directors will be elected for FY2010. As a result, 7 regions (Middle Atlantic, Southeast, Great Lakes, South Central, Northwest, Southwest, and West) will have one Institute Director on the Board starting in July 2009. Ideally the regions will have determined their procedures for selecting their top officers and changed their Bylaws by the end of this calendar year. The other 3 regions (Northeast, Gulf States, and North Central) will still have 2 directors in FY2010 and 2 regions (Northeast and Gulf States) will have 2 directors in FY2011 when the first of the new 2-year directors are elected. As previously staggered 3-year terms are completed and phased out, these regions will have more votes than the others, based on the luck of the draw. The task team considered this situation to be acceptable in order to accomplish the transition as soon as possible, without altering anyone’s elected term of office. The transition to election of 5 new directors each year will be complete in FY2012.

In FY2011 the first Director at Large will be elected, with the other elected in FY2012. A Professional Vice President whose term is completed will not be replaced in FY2010 and an Industry Vice President will not be replaced in FY2011. The Immediate Past President position will be phased out as the currently elected officers finish their terms in FY2011.

The Executive Committee will cease to have separate responsibilities in FY2010 and the Board will operate in a horizontal mode. Recommendations for changes in Institute Policy to reassign the Executive Committee duties to others will be provided by the Task Team soon.

LEGEND:

Peach and Blue represent the current positions elected under the previous bylaws, alternating between the colors for easy identification. Officer positions that do not change are still displayed with these colors.

Green indicates the new 2-year term Directors. Years shown in pink indicate the Executive Committee is still functioning with Red being the first year without the Executive Committee.

Navy indicates the first year the Board will be fully operational under the reduced Board size.

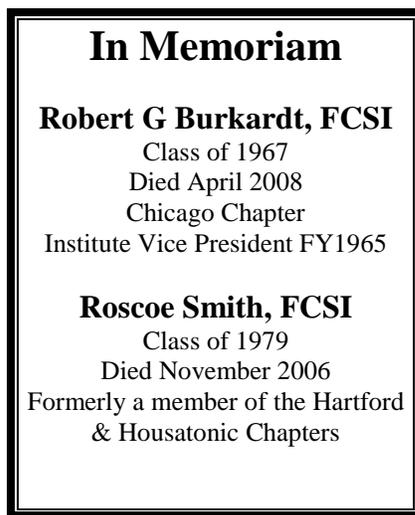

The Task Team is preparing guidelines for the changes in Region Bylaws, as well as for Chapter Bylaws for the delegate change. Members of

GRITT will be holding sessions in the Leader Lounge at CONSTRUCT2008 and the CSI Annual Convention in Las Vegas and will be at the CSI

Booth, to assist those leaders who arrive with questions and concerns. The Team will provide a summary of identified potential changes to Bylaws and suggestions about the transition. A number of webinars will be facilitated as well, to help regions accomplish the necessary changes.

This and other reports to members are being provided prior to the Board's approval in order to encourage participation in the webinars and advice sessions at Convention. Please remember that this plan is tentative until approved by the Board.

Please direct any questions or comments to the CSI Forum under Governance Reform Implementation.

Report from The COF Chancellor

By Doug Hartman, FCSI, CCS, CCCA

Plans are being finalized for the Fellow's meeting at the convention on Wednesday evening, June 4th at the Renaissance Hotel. Our meeting will be in the same hotel as the welcoming reception, allowing everyone to attend both events. Please make your calendars. Schedule is as follows:

Fellows Reception: 6:30 pm

Fellows Business Meeting: 7:00 pm

College of Fellows Meeting: 8:00 pm

And given the lateness of the meetings, we are planning some finger food in addition to the cash bar.

To reiterate from the winter newsletter, in order to support the Academic Affairs Committee's (AAC) goal of bringing our student participation back to the levels we enjoyed before moving to the April time frame, Greg Sprinkel and committee are planning a renewed effort at the convention to make it a memorable experience. And here is where I challenge the fellows to get involved...

First, I would like to see at least one student from each chapter be represented at the convention. And this just won't happen without some financial assistance. In the SC region, many of our chapters have set aside funds to help with this effort, and the region also kicks-in. With the registration costs being minimal, and doubling up on hotel rooms, the cost is really not much if air fare is purchased early. Please encourage your chapters and regions to help support this goal.

Second, the AAC is planning a welcome breakfast from 8-9 am on Wednesday, June 4 (just prior to the "first timer's" orientation), for the students to learn about all the opportunities afforded to them at the convention. I would like to see the fellows attend this event and get paired-up with a student to be a mentor during the convention. While there may be some members from their local chapter or region also serving in a similar capacity, this would give them another resource for information, guidance, and perspective on what the convention holds for them. Your participation can include helping them select education sessions, guiding them through the exhibit hall the first day, helping them find the all-important hospitality rooms, and perhaps even attending some off-site tours planned if bus capacity allows. It will also give them someone else (hopefully, but not necessarily within their same field of study) to be a resource as to how CSI and the convention has helped advance the fellows' career. If I could hear from each of you who are interested in participating (just a brief email would be sufficient, but since the last plea, I have only heard from 1 of you), then we can begin to collect name and determine if we have enough to make this happen.

See you in Las Vegas!

Convention Badges - Information

By: Richard Eustis, PE, FCSI, CCCA, CSC

If you are attending this year's CSI Convention in Las Vegas and have received your "Convention Badge" and other material from Hanley Wood, you may have noticed the order of the suffix initials that follows your name. Before you jump to any conclusions, you should know the issue has been recognized but the problem was not found in time to make the necessary adjustments for this year. Apparently Hanley Wood uses a program to generate Convention Badges that arranges all of the suffix initials in alphabetical order. To correct the order to what CSI Members normally expect would require some revisions to their software program that required more time than was available. I have received assurance from the CSI Staff that this problem will be corrected prior to next year. Please share this explanation with other members of your Chapter that will be attending the convention.

CSI Fellows – Interesting Facts

By: Richard Eustis, PE, FCSI, CCCA, CSC

Each year as the Jury announces the selection of new Fellows, interesting circumstances are noted. For example, R. Michelle Beard is being elevated to Fellowship this year but only a few realize she is the daughter of Jan Sanders, FCSI who gained her Fellowship in 2004. This is not the first time this has occurred as it has happened twice in the past, the most recent time being in 2007 when George Van Neil, FCSI escorted his daughter Tracy back to her chairs after her advancement to Fellowship at the Convention Gala. Pamela Cole, FCSI, daughter of Tom Keeton, FCSI, received her Fellowship over a decade earlier in 1994. In addition to these three “family Fellows”, there is one set of brothers Charles McGuire, FCSI and Joseph McGuire, FCSI that have been honored by CSI for their activities. CSI also has one married couple where both are Fellows, Kerin and Sheryl Dodd-Hanson, both of whom received their Fellowship in Las Vegas but in different years.

This Year, Edward Smith, FAIA will become a Fellow of CSI joining 27 other Fellows who hold Fellowship in both CSI and AIA. This distinguished group is frequently referred to as “Double-Fellows” but there are other CSI members who are Fellows in a second organization. Wayne Watson is a Fellow in both CSI and our northern neighbor, Construction Specifications Canada. Former Institute President Phil McDade has been honored by Fellowship in both CSI and the American Society of Landscape Architects. There may be other CSI members who are both Fellows in CSI and a second professional organization but the information has never been captured and recorded.

If one looks at the awarding of Fellowships, they will note that the first Fellows were honored in 1959 and the following year 1960 was the only year there were no new Fellows. To understand this, one must go back a couple of years to 1958 when death took two early leaders of CSI, J. Norman Hunter and Ben John Small. The CSI Board was looking for a way to honor these two. At that time the CSI Board met in the Conference Room of Leon Chatelain, Jr’s Office in Washington, D.C. Mr. Chatelain was a Chapter Member of CSI and was very active in its formative years as well as being national president of AIA at the time. The CSI Board decided that the concept of “Fellow” would be an appropriate way to recognize Hunter and Small and relied on Mr. Chatelain for information on how to set up the honor.

Initially the honor of Fellowship was reserved for Professional Members and because the selection was being made by the Board, Board Members were not eligible for Fellowship. During FY1959, the Board voted to award Fellowship to not only J. Norman Hunter and Ben John Small but also to Leon Chatelain, Carl Ebert and Alfred Sikes. Following this election, the three new living Fellows were assigned the task of developing guidelines for future election of Fellows. This group’s recommendation included the requirement that a Jury consisting of three Fellows and three non-Fellows be established to provide an unbiased evaluation. It also removed the restriction that Board Members were not eligible for consideration. Much of the initial recommendations still exist today. As it took a little over a year to develop the new requirements, have them approved by the Board and then distributed to the membership, it was impossible to call for nominations for a 1960 Class.

One major change occurred in 1996 when Industry Members were first made eligible for elevation to Fellowship. That year, five Industry members were honored by Fellowship.

In 1959 when the first Fellows were elected, it was expected that this would result in a “College of Fellows” and Carl Ebert carried the title of “Secretary of the College” during the development of the recommendation to the Board. Somewhere during the following years, the concept of a “College of Fellows” disappeared and did not resurface until 2003 when the CSI Board approved the creation of a CSI College of Fellows.

Much of this early history was never recorded so is dependent on second-hand reported. I do want to thank Bob Molseed, FCSI for sharing information that he received from his old boss, Ed Pairo, which confirmed and filled blanks in information told to me by John Anderson, both of which were Fellows and Distinguished Members.

Fellows' Calabash...

(Calabash - A bowl often found in old-time parties in Hawaii for the guests to contribute to the event)

By: Gilman Hu, FCSI

ROSCOE “Rocky” D. SMITH – Buffy Lord wrote a lively note to inform us that Roscoe and wife, Angie, both passed away in Sun City, AZ, in November 2006. They were married for 60 years. How do we know about these things? The last edition of The Fellows was return with an expired forwarding address. We resent it and it went to his granddaughter in Massachusetts. She said “I know his membership in CSI meant a great deal to him; he really enjoyed the professionalism and fellowship of the organization. In fact, when I was little, my grandparents took me along on a trip to Los Angeles for a CSI convention!”

One never knows how we influence others.

The Fellows Medal

By Dick Eustis, PE, FCSI, CCCA, CSC

Since the first Fellow was invested in 1959, there have been three versions of the medal with some minor variations as vendors changed or for some other reason. All have been of the same size and they have always been supported by a green and white striped ribbon.

When the ribbon is placed around the recipient neck at the investiture, there is always a sense of pride in the recipient and well as recognition of the honor that is being bestowed by all that witness the ceremony. The wearing of the Fellows Medal is reserved for some very specific occasions or ceremonial events where those in attendance have some appreciation of the recognition that the honor represented by the medal.

But what happens to the Fellows Medal upon the death of a Fellow? I think most if not all Fellows would be somewhat disturbed to find a Fellows Medal for sale on E-Bay or other online auction house. We would be equally dismayed if one was found in a “land-fill” or other trash dumping area. Should someone that acquires a medal upon the death of a Fellow and does not recognize the honor that it represents, melt it down to recover any value? The point of these questions is not so much the proper disposition of the medal but rather to raise the question, “Should there be some suggested protocol for the eventual disposition of the Fellows Medal that originally belonged to someone that is now deceased. I am sure there are some cases where the Fellows Medal is seen as a cherished remembrance of a departed family member. In other cases, this may not be the case.

Please give this some thought. Is this something where the College of Fellows should take a leadership role in determining if a protocol is appropriate, and if so, what it might be?
